President's Message

Hi Orchid Lovers,

I am looking forward to our September 12 meeting when Jim and Melana Davison will be joining us from Jim-N-I Orchids. Jim will be discussing Brassavola's, a favorite of many of our members and an orchid that everyone should consider adding to their collection. Jim and Melana will have orchids for sale. Consider buying raffle tickets for a chance to win some of these beauties.

According to WildFlower and the AOS, between 26 and 110 million years ago orchids were discovered, making them the oldest flowering plant in the world. Orchid varieties are found all over the world, and it is accepted that orchids were in existence prior to the separation of the continents. Orchids are plants that belong to the family Orchidaceae. Orchidaceae, along with the Asteraceae, contain about 28,000 currently accepted species, distributed across 763 genera. A group of orchids is called a genus. Since the introduction of tropical species into cultivation in the 19th century, horticulturists have produced more than 100,000 hybrids and cultivars. Orchids carry a mystique and charm that few other flowers can match with their alluring and captivating flowers. Now is the time to add beauty and style to your home or landscape and treat yourself to an orchid at one of our upcoming meetings, put them on your "must have" list for our November show, and if you are lucky, you may win one or more at the monthly orchid raffle, playing BINGO at the picnic, or get one at the holiday party!

A reminder that our annual DBOS picnic is on Sunday, October 15 from noon to 4:00 pm at Tradewinds Park, 3600 W. Sample Road, Coconut Creek, FL 33073 in the Fritillary Pavilion. We will be playing Orchid Bingo and winners take home a new orchid. The picnic is FREE for DBOS members and $10.00 for our member's guests. We ask each member to bring either an appetizer, salad, main dish, side dish, and/or dessert. DBOS provides drinks, hamburgers, hot dogs, and buns. It is always lots of fun and there is plenty of time for visiting.

Mark your calendar for our annual show and sale, Orchid Obsession, on Saturday and Sunday, November 11-12 from 10:00 am – 5:00 pm both days at Safe Schools Institute in Boca Raton. The set-up for the show will be Friday, November 10. We will be looking for show volunteers for all three days. We have two shifts each day (morning and afternoon). Sign-up sheets for the picnic and show volunteers will be available at the September and October meetings.

While you have your calendar out, mark Saturday, December 2 for our annual potluck holiday party at the Croatian American Social Club. Members who attend receive a beautiful free orchid.

Tomas Bajza, the Tarzane Group, provided an enjoyable discussion on "Giant World of Miniature Orchids and How to Grow Cool in Hot Climate," at our August meeting as well as providing orchids for sale and a wonderful raffle table.

Speaker of the Month

Jim and Melana Davison

September 12, 2023 7:30 pm

“Brassavola: The Star of the Show”

Jim and Melana Davison are AOS Accredited Judges. They have an extensive and diverse orchid collection that seems to be continuously growing. Not only involved in caring for their orchids, they are actively involved in several South Florida orchid societies. Melana is the current President of the Orchid Society of Coral Gables and past President of the South Dade Amateur Orchid Club. Jim is the past President of the Orchid Society of Coral Gables and the East Everglades Orchid Society.

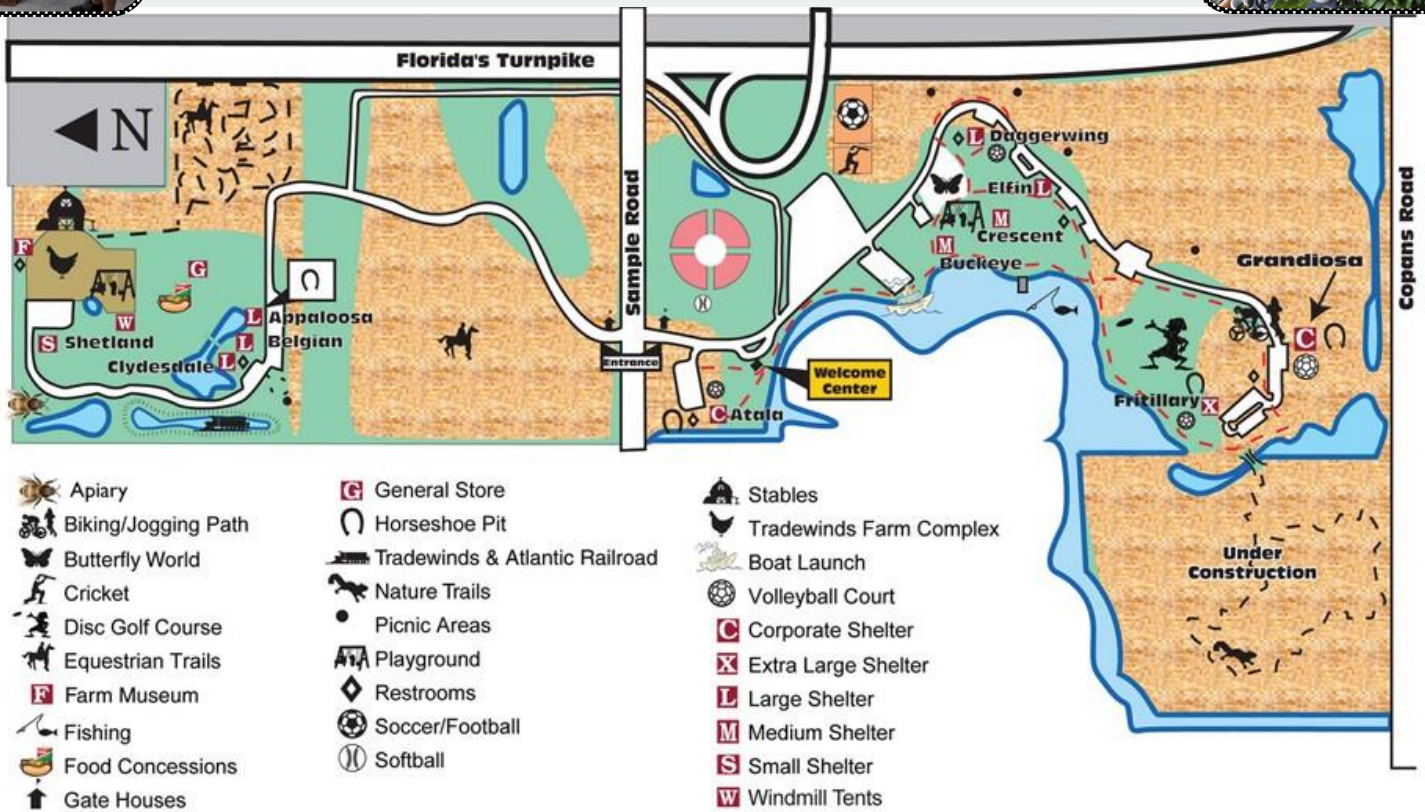

Jim’s appreciation for orchids stems from his scientific background. Before his recent retirement, he worked as a Nuclear Chemistry Manager at the Turkey Point Nuclear Power Plant. Melana is more interested in the aesthetic qualities of orchids, especially the ones that look strange and other worldly. She owns her own Orchid Maintenance business and is known as “The Orchidiva.” They are currently preparing a new greenhouse and shade area and have opened their own retail nursery, Jim-N-I Orchids. Together, Jim and Melana have seven grown children and five grandchildren. They live in Homestead with their two dogs, four of the five grandchildren and 5,000 plus orchids in their own collection, many more in the nursery.

They specialize in Catasetinae, Florida natives, and collectable species and hybrids. Jim and Melana want you to be successful in your orchid growing. That is why they strive to provide fully acclimated and rooted plants for sale. Their plants can go straight from the nursery to your growing space without skipping a beat.

September in Your Orchid Collection

By Dr. Martin Motes

September looms as the only truly dismal month in South Florida. Even without the prospect of the unspeakable 'H' word, September disheartens since it is easily the dampest, dulllest month in the year. Although more inches of rain fall in June, more hours of rain occur in the often slow, seemingly endless drizzles of September. Frequently a day or two can pass without so much as a solid hour of truly bright sunshine to lift our spirits and dry out our plants. Days are growing much shorter also, with long nights when our plants are wet from the frequent rains. Coming at the end of the rainy season when disease pressure has been building, September presents the maximum opportunity for fungal and bacterial diseases to take hold of our orchids. Hopefully careful watering practices and the judicious use of fungicides (as recommended last month) will have diminished the potential for disease in our collections. But even in the best managed collection, September calls for extra vigilance. Keep a close eye out for problems and remove immediately any plant that shows the first sign of fungus to a dry location to prevent the disease being spread by splashing rain drops. Good hygiene is particularly important this month. Clean up growing areas and remove any dead leaves, twigs or other organic debris from the plants and the ground. In September numerous diseases that linger in decaying plant material find the ideal conditions that allow them to jump to the living tissue of our prize orchids. Such problems can develop more quickly in September than in any other month. September is a month to stay home and be there for your orchids. Look at every plant, every day.

September, above all, is the month that the old Florida growers' adage that "One needs a cat to grow good orchids," holds true. By leaving enough space between plants on a shade house bench for a cat to walk around without knocking them down, one provides the good air circulation which is absolutely essential in periods of protracted wet weather. Well spaced plants are much less likely to encounter disease problems this month. Remember that your plants will have grown considerably over the summer and that the space they occupied comfortably in the Spring has now been filled by their own growth as well as their neighbors. Space them out. Now is perhaps the time to decide to hang some of the larger ones where they will dry much more quickly. The small cute ones left behind on the bench will be very appreciative of the extra air and light.

Another excellent way to increase air circulation and enhance rapid drying is by trimming excess (particularly vertical) branches from all trees which support orchids or are near to orchid growing areas. By increasing the light and air flow one will also garner the benefit of reducing the possibility that such trees will be knocked down in a severe storm. Trees trimmed to permit proper air circulation and light for orchids were frequently the only ones which survived upright after Andrew. As there is rarely time to do such pruning when storm warnings are actually*continued*.....

MEMBERS' PLANTS

DBOS members, please send images of some of your favorite orchids at any time to your newsletter's editor at morkert.tm@gmail.com so we can share them with our membership. Mother Nature doesn't always allow some of our beautiful 'orchid babies' to bloom at the right time for our monthly meetings. We enjoy seeing your blooming orchids in the newsletter as well as in person on our members' table at the monthly meeting. We often see orchids that we put on our list of orchids to add to our collections. If we get enough of our members to submit photos each month, we can have a virtual orchid display. Please also continue to bring in your blooming orchids to our member's table for judging at our monthly meetings.
